ABOUT THIS CATALOG

We're now out of colored catalogs. This spring planting offer answers your catalog request until we send you a colored catalog in May. Here we are able to offer lowest possible prices while we are reorganizing our plantings.

This is primarily a daylily list, because February and March are good months to start planting daylilies in the warmer states. Farther north March, April, and May are better. Start planting early; just as soon as possible after danger of severe frost is over in your area. You can plant daylilies anytime; but if planted by June and given good care, all should flower. If you plant early, 3 to 8 months of bloom can be expected of the many continuous bloomers like Easter Morn, Wideyed, Wonder, Naranja, Golden West, Show Girl, Capistrano, Fond Caress, Madam Butterfly, Cradle Song, Regal Lady, etc. State earliest date you can accept plants and we'll ship as soon after as possible.

In May our colored catalog will list many more iris; summer or fall is the usual time to plant iris. However, early spring planting will give a high percentage of bloom shortly after planting. Here we offer a select group of iris especially suited for spring planting. Continuous flowering sorts like Orchid and Flame, Beaucatcher, Ball Gown, and Joseph's Mantle with good culture and warm climate should flower several times the first year. Usually iris cannot be bought for spring planting. We felt many of our customers would like to take advantage of this offer to have iris to plant in their gardens NOW.
